TESTIMONIALS.
From Mr. JOHN J. MAHON, Capilla del Señor, June 29, 1881.—The dip which you sent me I used according to directions, and I can assure you that it gave the desired result. During four years of practical experience of curing scab in sheep, I have seen many specifics used, and I consider Gillard's the only one that gives complete satisfaction. It improves the quality and promotes the growth of the wool. For efficiency, economy and facility of application, I prefer it to any dip I have used.
From Mr. JAMES M. THOMAS, Estancia Santa Ines, Monte, June 29, 1881.—Having given a good trial to Gillard's Dip, I have much pleasure in bearing my testimony to its valuable quality as a Sheep Dip. It destroys all insect life with which sheep are infested, mixes readily in cold water, does not injure the hands, and softens all hard parts. I shall strongly recommend it whenever an opportunity offers. As regards the cheapness, it should command a good sale.
By using GILLARD'S SHEEP DIP the outlay will be repaid One Hundred-fold by the Improved Condition of the Sheep, and the increased Weight and Quality of the Wool. All Sheep owners should therefore try the experiment, if only on a small Flock.
NOTE—A sample drum will be supplied gratis to any Estanciero who is willing to give the Dip a fair trial and report on same

"LUXOR," KEROSENE OIL.
This celebrated brand of Kerosene, manufactured by the Chesebrough Manufacturing Co. (the manufacturers of Vaseline) is without doubt the best in this market. It is perfectly pure, gives a brilliant light and is absolutely free from the disagreeable odour most kerosene has.
Yellow Kerosene is always impure, leaves a crust on the wick, and is extremely dangerous to use, as it frequently explodes.
The U.S. Government requires that no Oil be sold under a fire test of 115e. Luxor is 150e; and is therefore perfectly safe. As such it is recommended, and families wishing to burn a really good Oil cannot do better than send for a sample to

TRANSANDINE RAILWAY.

The extraordinary number of public measures before Congress and the Government may account for the apathy with which our public men treat the greatest scheme of the day—the Transandine Railway.

After long years of patient waiting, Mr. Clarke has succeeded in organizing a company for the building of this great National railway which, when completed, will attract to this country all the tourists of Europe and the United States. The wealth and science of Europe will come to the Plate to view the Andes; and, it is impossible to estimate the impulse that will be given to our mining and other provincial interests by the influx of such a tide of capital and intelligence as the Transandine Railway, when completed, will secure us.

There are few, we believe, who thoroughly understand Mr. Clarke's contract, its amendment by Congress and its precise objects. The scheme has so long hung fire that people have forgotten the proposed route and the trade which it aims to secure. Mr. Clarke has published a pamphlet in London which supplies all this information, and which is of very recent date; and conceiving that a scheme of such magnitude must necessarily interest our readers, we extract the following from this pamphlet, which will probably place the matter more clearly before the public than anything we can write.

Mr. Clarke says:—

I.

We have thought it convenient, in the first place, to issue this statement, because we have found that those persons to whom we have hitherto spoken as to our concession were under the impression that our purpose in coming to London was in order to carry out the Transandine Interoceanic Railway as originally contemplated.

Such is not now our intention.

Our project is limited to a proposal for the prolongation of a Government line of railway actually in operation, and which terminates at the Villa de Mercedes, to the city of Mendoza, and by a branch line from the latter to the city of San Juan.

Mercedes is now in communication with the port of Rosario by railway a distance of 479 kilometres, of which 254 kilometres belong to the Argentine Government (i.e., the section between Mercedes and Villa Maria), and the remainder, or 225 kilometres, form a part of the Central Argentine Railway, connecting Rosario with the city of Cordova.

The distance between Mercedes and Mendoza is 345 kilometres, and the branch from the latter to San Juan would be 153 kilometres.

These lines, we again remark, are the only ones whose construction we at present propose to realize.

II.

The contracts for the construction of the Transandine Railway we have always regarded as independent of the railway proposed to place the province of Mendoza and San Juan in communication with Rosario and Buenos Aires. But the circumstance of the two concessions having been secured at the same time, and being included in one contract, has led some to suppose that they constituted an indivisable undertaking.

A cursory study of the facts will suffice to create conviction that the Argentine section, standing alone, possesses within itself all the elements of success, while it would greatly contribute to the prosperity of the Government line which terminates at Villa Mercedes, where it cannot secure an important traffic, inasmuch as it exclusively depends on the merchandise of Mendoza and San Juan, conveyed in carts and on muleback, after a long journey, and at prices so excessive as to still exclude the transport of cereals and wines—articles which would be exported in great quantity, not only for the markets of the River Plate, but also to those of Brazil and Europe, when growers can count on a reduced freight.

Having made these explanatory observations, we will now proceed to offer some details with reference to our concession, as to the modifications obtained, and on the importance we attach to our project.

The original concession in our favour was given under contract, signed at Buenos Aires on the 24th of January, 1874.

While we were engaged with the technical studies on the ground, one of our associates, Don Juan E Clark, came to London, and submitted the concession to gentlemen occupying a high and respectable position in the financial world, requesting their opinion, so as to be in a state of preparation for the time when it should be necessary to initiate arrangements for the formation of a company, after the surveys and estimates, upon which the engineers were then actually employed, were finally perfected.

The contract was the subject of a series of comments, which induced my brother Don Juan E Clark, to return to Buenos Aires, to solicit from the Argentine Congress the modifications suggested. Nevertheless, none of the modifications imposed any new obligation on the Government.

In the memorial which, with this object, was presented to Congress, the suppression of certain clauses was requested, on the ground that they placed the enterprise under disadvantageous conditions in the event of a disagreement with the Government. It also asked for the extension of the time allowed for the construction of the line, so as to facilitate the acquisition of capital; and for the payment of the guarantee every six months, direct to the holders of the shares, without being dependent on the approbation or examination of the traffic accounts and the working expenses of the line.

The Senate Chamber, which was the first to take the matter into consideration, accepted the modifications and gave them favourable dispatch, recognising that, while they were advantageous for the concessionaires, and would assist the subscription of the capital, they did not impose on the nation any charges beyond those already stipulated in the existing contract.

It then passed into the Chamber of Deputies, which did not, however, that year dispatch more than the first three modifications, of the sixteen solicited, before the period fixed for the close of its session; and in consequence our memorial stood over to the following year.

The financial crisis, in which the country was so suddenly involved, retarded the consideration of our petition in this Chamber. Only recently, in the session of the past year, did we obtain its definitive sanction; and on the 11th of Sept. 1878, it received the final approbation of the Argentine National Government.

We should observe that, a few days before the discussion of our memorial was commenced, the Chamber rejected all the other projects for the construction of railways that remained for consideration, as well as every enterprise whatsoever calculated, either directly or indirectly, to affect the responsibility of the nation. And, in afterwards occupying itself with our affair, the Chamber implicitly recognised the great importance of our project, confirming the judgment of the whole country, which regards this work as one of immediate necessity, and especially calculated to contribute most powerfully to the growth of public wealth, by affording invaluable facilities for the development of the agricultural and mineral wealth of the industrious provinces of the west. Our project was also favourably considered in view of the fact that it will complete a line that has stopped half way, and has not yet effectually tapped the sources of interior traffic.

III.

Although we append to this statement the complete text of our concession, we still think it desirable in this place to call attention to the principal modifications sanctioned by the Argentine Congress, viz—

1. That the construction of the line shall begin at Mercedes, in the Province of San Luis, and proceed to Mendoza and San Juan; that a period of five years be accorded for the construction of this section; and that the realization of the Transandine line, and of the part between Mercedes and Buenos Ayres, be postponed until after the former is finished.

2. That the payment of the guarantee be made half yearly, and direct to the holders of the shares emitted by the enterprise.

[This modification is undoubtedly most important. It secures to the shareholders the punctual payment of the seven per cent guaranteed, inasmuch as they will not depend, as is the case with other concessions, upon the examination and approval of the traffic accounts and the working expenses, which, as a rule, has given rise to the delays that have occurred to other companies. The guarantee, accorded in this form, and recognised in the shares themselves, will place the shareholders of this enterprise in even a more advantageous position than the holders of bonds in the external debt of the Republic, since, besides the guarantee of seven per cent. for twenty years' the shareholders will have the property of the Railway, with the probability of a return much in excess of seven per cent. immediately after the completion of the line, as we purpose to demonstrate further on.]

3. That only half of the excess of net revenue over seven per cent. be repayable to the Government in liquidation of its advances under the guarantee, until the Company shall have created a reserve fund of £100-000 to provide for the preservation and improvement of the line, when the entire excess over seven per cent will be handed over to the Government until its advances under the guarantee have been covered.

(It is proposed to make the line in small sections of from ten to fifteen miles, and the payment of the guarantee will commence immediately on the completion and delivery for traffic of each section. The object of this modification was, in case of any sums being invested in improvements, to avoid a consequent diminution of the dividends payable to the shareholders, on the ground that it was immediately necessary to return to the Government the amounts it might have paid on account of guarantee.)

4. After the perfect completion of the line, the enterprise will itself fix the tariff during the first two years, afterwards, however, doing so in accord with the Government.

(This modification enables the Company to fix the tariffs at a rate in proportion to the requirements dictated by experience in working the line.)

5. The Government cannot suspend payment of the guarantee for any deficiency or fault in the execution of the contract, reserving to itself only the right to impose on the Company the penalties specified in the laws specially applicable to railways.

6. All questions that may arise between the enterprise and the Government, as to the manner in which the contract has been fulfilled, to be decided by arbitrators appointed to that effect.

BIO CUARTO

(From our own Correspondent.)

Salvoes of cannon, volleys of musketry, mingling with the noble strains of 'Oid Mortales' from the band of the 10th Regiment, woke the sleepers of Rio Cuarto at sunrise on this morning of the 9th July, woke them up to a knowledge of the memories and the hopes which each anniversary of this great day must rouse in the breast of every true Argentine.

As these sounds filled the air, as these thoughts filled many a breast, an aged lady lay dying, the Sra. de Villanueva, mother of the Administrator of the Andine Railway. When she was yet an infant in arms, the fathers of the Argentine Republic, assembled in Congress at Tucuman, signed that declaration which gave to the world a new nation. Since the day of her birth she had been accustomed to hear this anniversary so welcomed by sound of cannon and the music of the National Hymn, but how great a difference in the spoken thoughts of those about her must must she have noted from year to year. The history of her life has been coincident with that of the Argentine Republic, but human life is short, stretching over only a few decades; the life of a nation is counted by centuries. The good lady has passed away with the weight of years upon her, but the nation which was born with her is even yet only emerging from infancy.

The history of that good lady is known to her family and friends who mourn her loss, and speak lovingly of her, in memory of the good deeds and amiability of character which distinguished her during a prolonged existence. The history of the Argentine Republic is a chapter in the History of the World. Of what does that chapter treat? Of a glorious and successful struggle against the tyranny of Spain; of a struggle equally glorious and successful against the encroachments of Brazil; of internal anarchy and disorder; of years of helpless groveling at the feet of a native tyrant; of a successful re-assertion of the rights of man against that tyrant: again of disorder and internecine strife, and last, and most glorious of all, of the resurrection from this chaos of the Argentine Republic, as dreamed of by those great men who signed the Declaration of Independence on the 9th July 1816.

What are these trials through which the Republic has passed?

They are the sicknesses and sorrows incident to the infancy of a great nation.

The infancy has passed and with it the weaknesses and follies of the infantile age; some there are who would have us believe in the maturity of the Argentine Republic, but it is not so, the Argentine Republic is not yet mature, but is now in the full vigor of adolescence.

What are the signs we see about us? Provincial jealousies; National self-assertion; triumphant success in the solution of difficulties, insuperable to the men of the past; the Capital Question, the protection of the frontiers; gigantic projects for the occupation and peopling of new territories; equally giant hopes for a greatness yet to be achieved. These are not the signs of the infancy nor yet of the maturity of a nation, they are signs of a vigorous adolescence.

The Argentine Republic has but just emerged from infancy, her real life lies all before her. When her plains from the Plata to the Andes, when her mountain slopes and intermediate valleys from Jujuy to the Straits of Magellan, are filled by an industrious and contented people, then the Argentine Republic will be mature and will have her due place among the Nations. As yet she is but in the full vigour of a fiery and impetuous youth: the history of her progress, power, wealth and glory is not yet written, has yet to be achieved. The honors of the past, of which she has not a few, are as nothing to the honors and glories yet to come.

We of Rio Cuarto feel the full force of this youthful vigour working in our midst. But a few years ago an obscure village, an outpost on the Pampa, now a centre of industry, strength and progress; our railway, our ever-extending streets, the numerous new faces day by day appearing among us, the new ideas, the new schemes laid before us, all point to the great future which awaits us. As we glance our eyes over the map of the wide plains about us, so lately unpeopled and unowned, we see there the whole territory marked out with names, as yet unknown, and which will be the great names of the next generation, the names of the men who will rule the destinies of the Argentine Republic.

New barracks are on foot, which will make Rio Cuarto the great military station of the North-West. A powder manufactory is already rising from its foundations in our suburbs; the foundation-stone of a new market will be laid next week, and our next great work will be a National College.

The site for a powder manufactory has been well chosen, right in the centre of the Republic, inaccessible to enemies from any side, with sulphur obtainable in any quantity from San Juan, with saltpetre from the Pampas all around us, with the best of charcoal from the willow forests of Villa Maria; with this manufactory established the Republic will be independent of foreign supplies, and may here establish an arsenal, safe from foreign foes, and ready in any emergency, come the danger from what side it will.

The works of the Andine extension are going on rapidly, but have suffered some delay in consequence of difficulties unforeseen, yet withal we expect to run trains to San Luis before the year is out, and twelve months more will carry the iron road to Mendoza. Mendoza, the best cultivated of all the provinces of the Argentine Republic, but shut out from the world by the wide waste of Pampa to the East, by the towering peaks of the Cordillera to the West: only when the whistle of the iron horse is heard in the streets of your noble city, when the level road on which he runs crosses your acequias and meadows of lucerne, will the wealth of your citizens be known and their industry reap its due reward. Even the extension of our line will not do this fully; we look to the extension of the Western Line of Buenos Ayres from Chivilcoy by Junin and Lincoln to Mercedes, as the next great step in the conquest of the Pampa, as the step which will unite in iron bonds the long neglected but wealthy provinces of Cuyo with the Capital.

THE FRENCH FESTIVAL.

The frosty weather we have had for the last few days in no way diminished the patriotic enthusiasm of the French residents in the city. Their shops were closed, their flags hoisted, and the majority wore medals and small paper tricolour flags. Bands of music and deputations abounded; in fact, it was a complete gala day; but, with all the desire, the organization of the balls was a perfect failure. Long before the time usually appointed for balls, every place devoted to Terpsychore was invaded by hordes of the Gallic public, whose greatest delight is dancing. The Opera House was splendidly illuminated and decorated and the boxes were crowded with good society: below was a general medley.

The company, though very mixed, was very orderly: in fact, I am inclined to think that very few who did assist at the Opera had taken their fair share of 'the sparkling.'

The Skating Rink was not so crowded, and the company was decidedly of the lower strata of French: hotel-waiters out of employment, and journeymen tradespeople of every description: 'Come on, Sal, I'll hold y'r bonnet.' In fact, the scene could only be compared to the Crystal Palace on 'boxing day.'

The Gambetta of the Plate was conspicuous in his attentions to the French Minister, whom he escorted to the Skating Rink.

Had the whole affair been properly managed, a large amount of money could have been collected for some charitable purpose.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The great news yesterday morning was that the Provincial Bank has telegraphed to London, Paris and Antwerp for every cent of gold it has in Europe. This means that the curtain is about to drop on the gold ring in the Bolsa.

Telegrams from Montevideo, Azul, Rosario and dozens of other places show that it was not in Buenos Aires alone that the French celebrated the Fourteenth; they appear to have gone at it 'con amore' in all quarters. Whoever wishes to read a full description of these splendid fetes should buy the Nacion of yesterday. With our restricted space, we cannot even attempt it. The illuminations at the French Club were splendid; and all the leading French houses were also brilliantly lighted up—the Ciudad de Londres, Burgos's, the Aguila and Paris Confiterias, the Palais d'Industrie, and hundreds of others in every street in town. (Argentines should take a hint from their French friends, and on their next Independence Day, abandon the wearisome monotony of confining the illuminations to Plaza Victoria and the public buildings. Private taste and patriotic spirit always do such things better than Governments.) The banquet at the French Legation was simply superb. A perusal of the 'menu' completely spoiled our appetite for our diurnal 'puchero.' The President of the Republic was unable to attend, but the Minister of Foreign Affairs represented him. The following is the list of the guests:—"Mr Wagner, Cousul general of France; Commander of the Morelier; Mr Boussignac, Chancelor of the French Consulate; Dr D Bernardo de Irigoyen, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Colonel Santa Cruz, Director of Colegio Militar de Palermo; Mr de Beuf, Director of the Escuela Naval Argentina; Dr D Evaristo Gomez Sanchez, Minister of Peru; Sr Omiste, Minister of Bolivia; Dr D Jose A de Escudero, Minister of Costa Rica; Monseñor Matera, Delegate Apostolic; Dr Pizarro, Minister of Justice; Dr. Peralta, President of the Camara de Diputados de la Nacion; Sr Alvear, President of the Municipalidad; Gen. Osborne, Minister of United States; Baron von Holleben, Minister of Germany; the Ministers of England and Brazil; Messrs Henrioz, Biancas y Simon." For the benefit of our lady readers we may mention that the Countess Amelot de Chaillou wore a magnificent dress of black velvet, with low body and short sleeves, the golden stars with which it was studded producing a dazzling effect. 'Old Stager' gives his opinion of the balls at the Opera and Skating Rink in another column.

We were favoured yesterday by the Havas Agency with a telegram stating that Dr Quinche has been named Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, in recognition of the many years' services he has rendered to the French residents of B. Aires. Dr Quinche's hosts of friends here will join us in warmly congratulating him on such a high and well deserved honour.

The Catalogue of the books to be sold to-day, at their mart in Calle San Martin, by Messrs Baltar and Quesada, for account of Messrs Jacobsen & Co, the well known booksellers, is an Encyclopedia. Such a variety of literature is seldom offered to the public. The catalogue can be had gratis on application to Messrs Jacobsen & Co, No 242 Calle Florida.

Half the Bonds of the new Arg. Railway Loan just issued in France will be signed by Minister Balcarce and the other by Mr A Paz, Argentine Consul General in France. At first the Minister was ordered to sign them all (125,000) himself, but on his representing that his elbow would give way under such a strain, Senor Paz was commissioned to assist him.

The news from Montevideo is the sanction by the Chambers of a new loan of 2,000,000 dollars, to cancel the deficit of last year. It bears 6 per cent, interest and 2 amortization. This is a cheerful little addition to the burdens of poor B.O.

The cable announces that flour has gone up like a rocket in New York and London, 25 per cent in the former market. What a pity there is none here for export.

There was a good deal of leave-taking going on yesterday at the Central Station. The passengers had a gloriously fine day for sailing out to the Neva, and they all looked in excellent spirits, without that 'girl I left behind me' aspect so often witnessed.

A New York correspondent says—'The general public have caught the excitement of the sporting world over the successes of American horses at the Derby and the Grand Prix of Paris. The daily papers have reproduced the leaders in the London papers upon the Derby winner. Mr. Keene having been interviewed at Paris, said these victories must convince the people of Europe that 'American horses surpass European horses as much as the American people surpass those of the Old World.' This ungracious brag is not imitated by the American press, which treats the subject with dignified pride, and remarks that it is fortunate the American eagle is getting old, otherwise his screams might vulgarise the present triumph.

Sir Narrow Gauge Robertson, C. E., has finished the surveys of the tramway from Ensenada to Magdalena, and the works will begin next month.

We have Panama papers to June 2d, but they do not contain a line of news interesting to Buenos Aires readers.

News has come up from Tandil that a new and poisonous kind of grass has appeared in the camps there and is killing the horned cattle in large numbers.

King Humbert has named Baron Cova as new Italian Minister to this republic. The Baron is a Lombard and a very distinguished diplomatist.

The debate on the Conversion Bill on Monday, in the National Chamber of Deputies, lasted till 11 o'clock p.m., and the Minister of Finance had to keep half his excellent speech till next sitting.

One hundred thousand photographs of the Continental Exhibition are to be taken. According to the plans it ought to be a very handsome building,

A number of 'jovenes alegres' have hit on the brilliant idea of forming an association to be called the Perendengue, or Jolly Dogs Club, the object of which is to collect the portraits of the most famous wits, 'bon viveurs,' etc., past and present. The immense aid to the moral and material progress of the country which such a Club is calculated to afford must be apparent to the meanest capacity.

The Committee of Hacendados of the Continental Exhibition have decided to admit imported sheep, and also horses and cows if there be applications to show same.

Father Vaughan requests us to acknowledge on his part the receipt of £200 sterling—£50 each from Mrs Mary M Mooney, Mrs Margaret Mooney de Morgan, Miss Maraquita Mooney and Mr William Mooney, of Giles, who have all become 'Founders' of his pious Work of Expiation. This good example is likely to be followed by many others of the wealthy Irish families in the camp, and the contributions from the camp of Buenos Ayres to Father Vaughan's work are likely to be large. Father Mulleady's parishioners are contributing to present him with a diploma as a Founder of the Expiation Work, representing his 'partido.'

There was a demonstration at Quilmes on Thursday, when the engineers who have finished the work of inspecting that historic spot, with a view to ascertain its fitness to be capital of the province, were entertained by the Municipality. Enthusiastic speeches were made and toasts quaffed to the future capital, and the evening was a very pleasant one. Mr Crabtree sent down a special train for the engineers at 10 o'clock, and many of the leading residents of Quilmes made the run to the city with them, returning in the same train to bed.

The Inman steam line has just launched for the North American trade the largest steamer afloat (except the Great Eastern)—the City of Rome, 586 feet long, 9,000 tons burden, and 10,000 horse power. This floating palace, which is fitted up in the most gorgeous style, will rush across the Atlantic at the wonderful speed of 18 knots an hour; and the Chairman hinted, at the banquet after the lunch, that 22 knots an hour at no distant day is on the cards for ocean travelling: he also said that the public will refuse soon to travel in steamers that carry any cargo whatever, and that express ocean flyers at the above speed must be provided for them.

The net profits of the Central Argentine Railway in May were $ f 65,595. Ten per cent. may be expected by the shareholders this year.

We recommend those who want to hear the most wonderful violin playing since Paganini's time, to attend Madame Camille Urzo's concert at the Coliseum on Monday night. The programme is splendid, and the 'entrada' only $50.

The evening telegrams from Montevideo announce that President Vidal declares in his Message closing the Chambers that he has not the faintest idea in life of resigning. 'So much for Buckingham!'

Patacons	25.60
Cedulas A	99
National Bank Shares..	98½

The market opened this morning with the great news that at last the Provincial Bank Directors had telegraphed to London, Paris and Antwerp for all the gold lying to its credit at their bankers there to be at once shipped to the Plate. It is really extraordinary that such all important news did not put the premium on gold 25 to 30 cents, but the decline, if gradual, is perhaps all the more sure, and it was openly stated on 'Change to-day that next month over a million sterling in gold will arrive in this market from Europe.

The debate in Congress last night on the Romero project was the talk of the whole Bolsa. Many of the brokers attended the House, and all praised the admirable speeches of Dr. Goyena and the Minister, Dr. Romero. The opinion on 'Change is that Dr Romero's original project is what will pass, and that the amendment introduced by Committee will be rejected as unnecessary. All however appear to agree that the measure no longer admits of any doubt, and as the prolonged discussion of a bill so calculated to affect the market is most prejudicial, it is thought that when it is once passed by the Deputies it will pass the Senate without further delay, and perhaps next week or the week after be promulgated as law.

With respect to the project before the Provincial Legislature about the Mortgage Bank the news is that it will be productive of the very greatest good to the Bank, since the finale of the business will be not only the rejection of Sr Heredia's project, but the passage of a measure that will immensely strengthen the bank and secure to it increased capital. Thus, as is ever the case, measures that the market condemn and which conflict with our credit and our common sense have only to be mooted to be rejected, and the voice of public opinion was never more pronounced on any subject than in the unanimous disapproval of this ill advised project.

Gold opened at 25.65, and at once tumbled to 25.55, closing at 25.60, the cash sales amounted to 353,617. The sales for the end of the month were 810,000, opening at 25.60, and closing at 25.50, and for Sept. at 25.35. The total sales were 1,588,217, and the vencimientos to-day, being account day, for the fortnight were 437,000; gold was delivered to-day at 28.90, and we believe some lots as high as 29.

In Cedulas there is such a decided reaction that as we before stated the stock is marching to a premium. Some large purchases for August were made to-day, they said for foreign account; the business done only amounted to 288,000, and of this but 35,000 cash. Cedulas are so scarce cash that holders now ask par, and not much to be had even at that rate. When the bears begin to buy back the stock they sold they must buy double, and this will show how this now most speculative market stands.

Nat. Bank Shares firm and advancing, for the end of the month 1560 bought at 98½, and for August 99½. They say that to-day or to-morrow the dividend will be declared payable on Sept. 1st, and that the dividend will be either 3½ or 4 for the half year. The stock for speculative purposes is considered the very best in the market, and from the general ease in our money market and the great future of the bank, it looks most probable that speculators will be able to carry the shares to a handsome premium.

We note the arrival in town of many sheep-farmers, nearly all of whom come to buy wire and posts to fence their land; rather a good sign.

Our remarks this morning on the subject of Treasury Bills amortization have found the fullest market approval; we note by the English papers that this stock is now going on the London stock exchange. It goes there as a National security created by specific law, and not one line of that law can be altered without the consent of the holders, as the London stock exchange, which is a power in itself, will protect its own market. Holders of Treasury Bills need therefore have no concern in the arguments of the Republica 20 premium was, we hear, offered for the stock to-day and declined.

It is strange that in Montevideo exchange should remain so low, since takers can have as much as they want here; the rate in Montevideo shows a fall of ½ per cent.

The clearance of the Neva was the business of the day, she took a heavy mail and we hear a heavy shipment of stocks for the London market.

Telegrams received to-day announce that Mr Taaffe, who has only just arrived, has obtained the contract for an important railway in Brazil.

The mole was crowded to-day and Dr and Mrs Fair were enveloped in friends who went to the stairs to see them off; judging by the great throng on the mole we should say the packet took a very large number of passengers.

Gold at after hours ruled very heavy; there was a slight flash in the pan at 4 o'clock, caused by the liquidator, calling an auction to purchase 7,500 pats gold, which was bought in at 25.55, and after the auction 100,000 sold in one lot for end of month at 25.50. This sale shook the floor, and immediately in other lots another 100,000 sold at same rate. Cedulas rule very upward; 30,000 bought for end of month at 99, and then at least 100,000 in various lots bought at same price; market closed at 99½ for end of month. National Bank Shares look marching fast to a premium; 500 bought for end of month at 98½, then 100 at 98¾, and finally 200 sold for same date at 99, for end of August strong buyers offering, last sale 200 at 99½, holders ask 100. Sellers of gold for Sept. and Oct. offering at 25.30. No buyers and a wager made between two leading brokers that this month the patacon goes to 25 m/s.

The London papers of 14th June give the following:—

"A protest was sent in to the Stock Exchange Committee to-day on the part of holders of Argentine Hard Dollar bonds against granting an official quotation to the Argentine loan lately brought out or to the Nine per Cent Treasury bonds.

We have no advices from London on the subject, but as the Hard Dollars are always quoted on the Stock Exchange as a home paper loan, then can be little doubt the Committee of the Stock Exchange rejected the application and returned to the signers their protest. It will be seen by the foregoing extract that it is probable the holders of Treasury bills have applied to the Stock Exchange for official quotation.

A meeting of the Mercantile Bank shareholders has been held in London; we hold the report of same for to-morrow, the assets amount to £701,000, and it is proposed to sell same to the new River Plate Bank, the R. Plate Trust Loan and Agency Company, for £240,000 cash, and £260,000 in £5 5 deferred shares of the new Company; the business may be considered as concluded, and another and final meeting is called to close the matter.

The total exports from the Banda Oriental are just published, and show for the following years so—

Exports....	16,545,965	19,752,201

Value of produce paying duties exported in 1880 was $f.15,649,743 against $f.19,197,440 in 1881. Thus we see that spite of everything the old Banda Oriental grows. The shipments to England show an increase of $700,000, and to Belgium about the same increase. To United States close on a million, but to France there is a slight falling off.

According to latest telegrams, there has been a sharp advance in wheat in New York, and prices for the new crop are 25 per cent higher than last year.

Our wheat advices from Chuput do not give such a heavy crop as last year. Some 9,000 fanegas had been threshed, whilst it was calculated another 3,000 remained. Last year 13,000 fan. were shipped off. With an influx of settlers, the reserve for home consumption will be heavier, so that the prospects of exports from thence to this port are not very bright. Add to this, that two mills were to be put up at once, and it is clear no very heavy shipment of wheat from that quarter can be expected by our millers; $145 was being offered there for it by the established houses, a figure which a buyer just arrived there refused to back. Considering that freight from Chuput is $30 to 35 there is but a bare margin at present prices. The second lot of Welsh immigrants—those per schooner Gwenllian—were safely landed on the 4th of June at Chuput. Their luggage, however, was still on board, at our latest date [the 10th inst.], as the vessel had been unable to enter the river. It appears that the present time of the year is most unpropitious for sailing vessels, the hour of high water being too early or too late for daylight at spring tides, and no sea breeze as in summer. It will be remembered that at corresponding period last year, several vessels had to remain outside for five and six weeks. It is strange some enterprising parties do not place a steam launch, for towing in and out of the river, rather than suffer such detention. The placing of the new comers was happily effected by the good will of the colonists and the energy of Mr Jones. They one and all praise the welcome accorded to them, and the arrangements for their temporary locations. The lot per Cabo de Hornos had selected their farms, and some were busily engaged in erecting houses, &c; whilst the last lot were traversing the valley in groups to look about for their future homs. The next lot was eagerly expected, as most of them had relations in the colony. We are told that Mr Jones is anxious to extend the settling beyond the measured section, lest the stream of immigration be again checked. He appears to have several other points in view, and the colonists have unlimited faith in his experience and knowledge of the country. The usual Indian trade was proceeding, but with evident fear and suspicion on the part of the Indians, after their terrible scattering in the Manzanas. Threshing was proceeding but slowly, owing to the wet weather. An estedd was held in the village of Gaiman on Whit Monday, where interesting competition took place in singing, reciting, composing, &c. A concert was on the tapis for the lower village. Rev. Mr Williams had resolved to settle in Gaiman, and in addition to his pastoral charge would open a school there. A postscript to another letter from Chuput gives the following:—The Indians were again making an appearance for trading at Chuput after their scare by the Manzana sweep. Already some three tons of feathers had been purchased. The colony was rising to the occasion to receive the new immigrants. Under Mr Jones's guidance it was deemed quite possible to place the new comers during the year, at several habitable points known only to him as to their capabilities. Two of the new pastors had taken charge of day schools in their several parishes, so that there were now four flourishing schools in the colony. Four vessels were loading wheat when our advices left, and the cart scenes at the deposits we are told were almost equal to our Boca; the carting having been deferred by bad weather.

The following is a list of the vessels sailed from the U. States for the River Plate:—

THE CRISIS IN IRELAND.

FIRING AT LADIES.

The parliamentary return of persons arrested under the Coercion Act, issued yesterday, shows that 110 had been apprehended up to the end of May. The Rev. Eugene Sheehy is charged with having attempted, by threats and menaces, to compel people to leave their employment. Thomas Brennan is charged with inciting persons to riot and assault. Andrew Kettle is charged with inciting persons to commit riot and obstruct the process of law.

A Cork telegram states that Mrs Maye, wife of a farmer at Castlemarher, county Cork, and her daughter were fired at while returning from church in a covered car on Sunday morning, but neither was hurt. Mr Maye has become obnoxious by taking a farm from which a tenant had been evicted, and has himself been fired at.

Last night's 'Dublin Gazette' contains a proclamation prohibiting any assembly at Nenagh and Kildare in view of certain expected evictions.

'One who won't stand to be made a cockshot again,' in a letter to the Dublin 'Express,' draws attention to 'the way we are being treated, not alone by the people, for we know very well what their feelings towards us are, but by our own authorities also, and by the 'Liberal' Government that we expected would do some good for us. To give you an instance :—A few days ago 100 of us assembled to carry out evictions. Some of us had to walk long distances to meet at the starting point. We thought that, as was done on a previous occasion, cars would be provided for us ; but we were told by our officer that we had only a few miles to march. Before we came back in the evening we had march ed more than 20 miles, and that in the teeth of pelting rain, and not a bit to eat or a drop of water even to drink, the people emptying it on the ground before our eyes, We marched, as I have stated, over 20 miles and back to where we had assembled ; then 'dismissed' to get off home to our stations the best way we could. Now, it is not the first time have been marched long distances on such unpleasant duties merely for the sake of saving a few pounds. We are harassed and tormented enough by abusive mobs and bravado officers, pelted at, hooted at, and cursed by ruffians, urged on by cowardly Land Leaguers, shunned by everybody as if we were striken with leprosy, refused a drink of water, though parched with thirst, doing our duty loyally to our Sovereign as we always have done, yet looked on with suspicion by those over us, as secret (?) circulars will show—abused and called cowards by our own officers (valiant heroes who won doubtful honours in such fields as Carraroe and Maam) taken away from our stations, and charged famine prices for what food we eat, and allowed, with reluctance about one fourth what it costs us. Such is the treatment we are receiving, and I can tell you that there is widespread dissatisfaction at present prevailing among the men which, rely on it, will amount to something serious if this state of things continue.

It has gone too far already. I know upwards of thirty young men who are going to resign in this county alone, myself being one of them. We will not submit to be kept leaning on our arms while cowardly insurgents are cracking us with stones. I stood that twice, but will not again. I could say four times as much, but am afraid it would be trespassing too much upon you.'—A Constabulary Man.

About 350 of Lord Waterford's tenants on the Waterford estates assembled yesterday to receive his lordship's reply to a request that he would accept Griffith's valuation instead of the present rent. His lordship declined to make any reduction, inasmuch as the land is not let over its value, and they would look upon him doing so without any valid reason as an admission that they were permanently entitled to it. In cases of family distress he has always been ready to grant ample time, but should there be any combination to refuse rents he would be compelled, however reluctantly, to enforce payment by the machinery of the law.

The village of Craughwell, within six miles of Loughrea, county Galway, was in a very excited state on Monday, in consequence of notices having been posted up calling on the people to 'Boycott' the local hotel proprietor because he hired a car to convey the Crown Solicitor to Loughrea to prosecute the men charged with the murder of Dempsey. The people were told that it was their duty to hunt him out of the district, to 'let the grass grow at this traitor's door. Away with him at once!' The fate of Dempseys and Connors awaits him.' The placards were torn down by the constabulary, but were posted up again, to be read by crowds of people. It is expected that several arrests will be made in the locality.

At a meeting of the general assembly of the Irish Presbyterian Church an address to the Queen was adopted, expressing a hope for the speedy settlement of the Land Bill.

ACROSS THE PAMPAS TO THE ANDES.

After plenty of rough riding, and allowing an hour for a camp meal of tough meat and beans, &c., about one o'clock, for breakfast, we drove again through the boundless prairies, passing thousands of vultures and hawks, storks, owls, ducks, geese, ostriches and many biscacha holes. We arrived very dusty, dirty and hungry at San Luis. Here we put up at the Hotel de l'Union, a hovel little better than the one at Mercedes. It was, however, kept by a Frenchwoman and her daughter. I ventured to trust myself to a bed in a room in which there were other travellers; and, to my amazement, I found the sheets were clean, and the bed, on a Crimean bed frame, most comfortable. My fellow traveller was not so venturesome, and would insist upon again sleeping in the dilligence.

Here we fell in with an intelligent Englishman, who had been sent out by a company from London to prospect the gold mines and gold washings about San Luis. His account of the mining prospects of the Argentine were very sanguine ; in fact all through the Argentine Republic we found the same hopeful feeling as to the prospects of the future of this great country,about eight times the size of France, and with a climate, for the greater part of the year, the most salubrious in the world. I know of no climate, except it be that of Texas in North America, or West Kirby in England, that can compare with it for evenness of temperature and healthful salubrity of atmosphere; nor do I know of any country where there are more hopeful prospects for men of energy getting on. The lands are particularly fresh and capable of feeding countless millions of cattle. Immense fortunes have been made within the last few years by many who started without a sixpence, and, strange to say, most of these successful and wealthy landowners are men who came out here as Irish emigrants—Home Rulers in the most practical sense of the term. So strong is this successful Irish element here, that it has sent Dean Dillon, one of the most popular and energetic of Roman Catholic ecclesiastics here (he is also a member of the House of Deputies at Buenos Ayres) to Ireland to try and induce 100,000 Irishmen to emigrate to this Eldorado of stock-raising countries.

Your correspondent C., who gave so gloomy an account of the sheepfarming in the Banda Oriental, in your issue of Feb. 19, was quite right in his estimate of the district and the prospect it holds out as a field for emigration. Men who tried sheepfarming have given it up and gone in for cattle raising instead. The grass of the Pampas suits this stock much better, and the risk of loss from disease is considerably less. One of the most notable examples of successful stock-raising is that of Mr Kemmis, of Las Rosas, about two hours by rail and three by horses, or nine leagues from Cañada Gomez, which is two hours from Rosario. Retiring from the army when there was little soldier's work to do, about fourteen years ago, he came out to River Plate, and, going out on the camp about nine leagues from Cañada Gomez, he planted his stick in the ground far away from any habitation of man ; surrounded by a horizon of prairies in unending circles, he vowed here he would make his start and build a home.For three months he lived and slept under a bullock cart, upon Pampa grass for a bed, and, by dint of indomitable energy and pluck, he has made for himself the brilliant position he now holds as the most successful breeder of stock and horses in the Argentine Republic. His famous herd of shorthorns are bred from the finest specimens of the Booth blood he could select, and his magnificent stud of horses bred from the Stockwell and Newminster cross—a cross that has proved to be the winning blood in England for some years past. Here this judicious cross has told the same story for the Kemmis breed has won the Derby and Oaks stakes each consecutive year at Buenos Ayres for the last three years. At the last races this famous strain, bred at Las Rosas, performed the extraordinary feat of winning first, second, and third in the Derby. This victory is all the more creditable from the fact that amongst Mr Kemmis's competitors in the Argentine is a wealthy native gentleman who spares no expense in importing the best blood from England on purpose to whip the dreaded Las Rosas breed ; but all his efforts so far have been futile. It needs more than a long purse to be able to select the best blood and most judicious of cross ; this happy knack of selecting the right sort is a gift, as all sportsmen know, a gift from the gods bestowed upon the lucky few, and amongst that favoured few stands in foremost place William Kemmis, of Las Rosas.

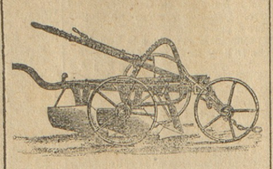
HOWARD'S CELEBRATED PLOUGHS

Howard's Double Plough.



The above implement effects great economy in the time and cost of ploughing, and its success has been very marked wherever it has been introduced. The depth of work can be regulated by the lever as the plough proceeds, and at the ends, the plough is lifted by the same lever clear off the ground.

The implement is so strongly constructed hat in the hands of Kaffirs it cannot readily be injured.

This is similar in construction to the preceding implement, but made to take three furrows. It may at once be converted into a Double Plough by the removal of the hinder body, and this is sometimes desirable on ground where the draught is heavy.

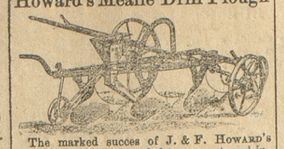
Howard's Mealie Drill Plough



The marked succes of J. & F. Howard's Multiple Ploughs has led to a great and increasing demand for these labour-saving implements.

In addition to the economy effected by their use in time and wages, their usefulness has been materially increased by the addition of a simple drill which deposits the seed in the middle furrow, where it is immediately covered with the earth raised by the next plough share.

By this means the cost of sowing is avoided, and no seed is wasted by being exposed to birds or vermin, nor is it trodden by the draught cattle. The seed is moreover sown at a uniform width and depth, and thus a regular growth of the crop is insured.
